Edward J. McAvoy Jr., 20, a junior at St. Joseph's, died at 12:30 a.m. last Sunday as the result of an auto accident on Route 53, 10 miles north of Rensselaer.

The son of Mr. Edward J. McAvoy Sr. and the late Mrs. McAvoy of 2617 Lake Shore Drive, Long Beach, Ind., Edward died as a result of a neck fracture and internal injuries.

McAvoy and fellow student Carl C. Dirksen, 20, of Maria Stein, O., were returning to school from McAvoy's home in the suburb of Michigan City, Ind., when McAvoy apparently fell asleep at the wheel.

The car went off the east side of the highway, struck a fence post and telephone pole, passed between a culvert and a fence and careened back across the road into a ditch. McAvoy was thrown from the car when it struck the telephone pole.

Dirksen, who suffered slight injuries, went to a nearby farmhouse for help. Dirksen was hospitalized at the college infirmary.

McAvoy was born in Chicago on March 29, 1940 and graduated from Campion high school, Prairie du Chien, Wis., in May, 1958.

Before coming to St. Joseph's, he attended John Carroll University, Cleveland, in 1958-59, and the St. Joseph's Calumet Center in 1959-60. He was a history major.

The funeral was conducted Wednesday at 11:00 a.m. from Notre Dame church, Long Beach.

Dr. Kreyche, Fr. Lechner, Dr. Morell promoted to full professorships

Three St. Joseph's faculty members have been promoted from associate professorships to full professorships.

Dr. Robert J. Kreyche and Fr. Robert F. Lechner, associate professors of philosophy, and Dr. R. W. Morell, associate professor of management, received promotions.

Dr. Kreyche earned his B.A. in 1942 and his M.A. in 1943 from Catholic University. He received his Ph.D. from the University of Ottawa in 1952. Before coming to St. Joseph's in 1956, he taught at St. Joseph's (Md.), Loyola (Baltimore), and Loyola (Chicago).

Dr. Kreyche has published two philosophy textbooks, Logic for Undergraduates and First Philosophy. Both books are used at St. Joseph's.

Fr. Lechner, chairman of the department of philosophy, earned his B.A. from St. Joseph's in 1942. He attended the University of Fribourg in Switzerland, receiving his Ph.D. in philosophy in 1950. He has taught at St. Joseph's since 1951.

Fr. Lechner is editor of the magazine, Philosophy Today, a philosophical periodical published by the Society of the Precious Blood.

Dr. Morell, chairman of the department of business administration, earned his M.B.A. from the University of Chicago in 1950 and his Ph.D. from St. Louis University in 1957. He came to St. Joseph's in 1959.

Before coming to St. Joseph's, he was assistant professor of management at the University of Detroit. He has published a book, titled Managerial Decision Making. He has also been named finance officer for select Academy of Management.

Journalism-social science major announced; requirements listed

A second group major will be offered in the department of journalism effective the fall semester of 1961 it was decided at the last faculty meeting on Feb. 8.

A journalism-social science program, requiring 36 upper-level hours in journalism, political science, economics, and history, will be given as an alternate to the older English-journalism group major. The English-journalism program requires a minimum of 30 upper-level hours so distributed that each department is represented by at least 12.

The new program has the added aim of providing the student, with the help of the departments of political science, economics, and history, with a knowledge of those fields about which he might well be expected to write as a professional journalist.

The 36 upper-level hours, must include a minimum of 12 hours in journalism, 12 in political science, 6 in economics, and 6 in history. The following courses are required: Journalism 31 and 32; Political Science 33, 39, 41, and 44; Economics 37 and 46; and History 38 and 44.

Lower-level courses which will be required are: Journalism 11, Political Science 22, Economics 21 and 22.

All freshmen and sophomores presently majoring in English-journalism are eligible to switch to the new group major.

It was also decided at the last faculty meeting that Journalism 44 (Newspaper Man-

Senior retreat to be given by Fr. Stanton

Fr. Terence Stanton, O.S.B., will be the retreat master for all four classes this year, beginning with the senior retreat this weekend, Feb. 17-18.

Differing from previous practice, the talks will not be given on Saturday morning because of the conflict with class schedules.

The dates for the subsequent retreats of the other classes are: juniors, Feb. 24-26; sophomores, March 10-12; freshmen, March 17-19.

On Sunday, the 8:30 mass in the college chapel will be reserved for the retreatants on each consecutive weekend.

The schedule for the senior retreat is as follows:

Friday 8:00 p.m.—Opening conference followed by confessions.

Saturday 2:00 p.m.—Conference followed by confessions.

4:00 p.m.—Conference

8:00 p.m.—Conference followed by benediction.

Sunday 8:30 a.m.—Mass (reserved for retreatants.)

2:00 p.m.—Conference

4:00 p.m.—Concluding conference, benediction, and the Papal blessing.

The schedule for each class will follow the same pattern.

Seniors pledge $5,571 in alumni fund drive

By MIKE DOYLE

Having been tossed a challenge by Mr. Walter Darling, president of the Fund Fulfillment Corporation and a member of the college Board of Lay Trustees, the senior class gave an unprecedented show of school spirit by responding one-hundred percent. This year for the first time every senior has contributed to the annual alumni fund. Between the cash donations and the three-year pledges a total of $5,571 was collected—an average student donation of approximately $35.

It has always been the custom for the seniors to give some parting donation to the college, and while the contributions in the past were moderately successful it could be seen that there was room for improvement.

Then this past fall, Rudy Volz, the alumni director, appearing at a meeting of the senior class, proposed that as a substitute for the annual senior gift to the college, the members of the class be solicited for a contribution to the college's annual alumni fund, a contribution pledge to be paid over a three year period.

The biggest reason for initiating this pledge system was the fact that while many of the students want to give to the college they feel a financial pinch at graduation time. Through this system they can pledge now and give later.

The plan was overwhelmingly approved by members of the senior class. Larry Kelly, senior class president, appointed James E. Sullivan as general chairman of the solicitation. Sullivan organized a committee of 36 seniors to act as solicitors. According to the plan each solicitor would be responsible for his own contribution and the contribution of four other seniors.

It was at the kickoff dinner for the solicitors that Mr. Darling issued his double challenge.

First, he announced that each St. Joe senior who agreed to donate $15 a year to the Alumni Fund for the next three years would be his guest at a special banquet. Second, if 100% participation in the drive were attained he would personally match the amount collected.

The very pleased alumni director, Rudy Volz, had this to say about the Alumni Fund; "The 1961 senior class with its wholehearted support of the senior solicitation campaign has exhibited a tangible expression of its loyalty and feeling for the college.

"Words are not adequate to commend them for their undertaking and its results. There is no doubt in my mind that their memory will live on for many years. Their support of the campaign will serve as a real stimulus to increase alumni participation in this year's fund."

Will the pledges be fulfilled? Mr. Volz commented, "I think so, for it looks like the seniors gave much thought to the amount they pledged, and have pledged what they honestly felt they could afford."

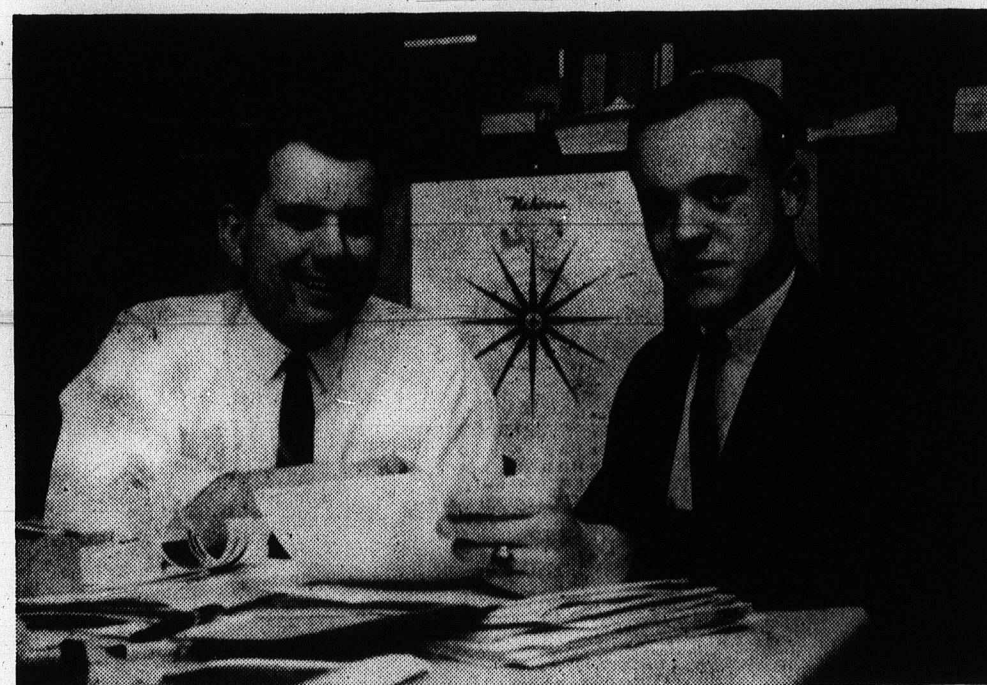

Chairman Sullivan remarked, "I would like to thank all of my fellow classmates who cooperated so wholeheartedly in helping to make this campaign the success that it has now achieved. I am particularly proud to be a member of the graduating class of '61 for many reasons and this past drive is a token of the quality inherent in this year's senior class."

SJC enrollment drops to 1016

Fr. Charles Robbins, college registrar, has officially announced the enrollment of 55 new and re-entering students for the second semester. Twenty-two freshmen, 12 sophomores, 11 juniors, 8 seniors, and two special students have added their numbers to the college population.

It was also announced that 149 students withdrew from the college at the end of last semester. Eighteen seniors graduated, 27 students were forced to leave because of poor scholarship, and 104 students dropped out for various personal reasons.

Fr. Robbins said that the college population, which totaled 1110 for the first semester, has dropped to 1016. He also added that there has been no major increase in the percentage of student withdrawals as compared to the first semester of 1959-60.

Alumni director Rudy Volz and student chairman Jim Sullivan examine senior pledges.

Soph, frosh debators needed

St. Joseph's debating team presently has a skeleton crew of four: Mike Reinhart, the only sophomore; Bob Blackwood, James Torrence, and Don Davia, all freshmen. Mr. Ralph Cappuccilli, moderator of the team, welcomes all sophomores and freshmen who wish to join the team.

Prospective members may contact Mr. Cappuccilli on Monday at 4:00 p. m. in Room 105.

The team will be visiting the University of Miami (O.), the University of Illinois, and other colleges and universities during April and May.

Failure to sign books out of library harms fellow students and hinders library progress

In the course of the last 10 years, 2000 books have disappeared from St. Joseph's library. Fr. Charles Banet, the college librarian, "discovered" 500 of these books last semester. Some were found in student rooms, some at the reception desk, and others were mysteriously replaced on the shelves.

This means that 1500 books have been lost to the library during the past decade for an average loss of 150 books a year. Including both the cost of the book and the cost of processing the book, the average financial loss to the library for this time has been about $900 a year.

These figures also show that during the past semester at least 500 books were taken from the library and returned without being signed out at the desk.

The moral implications of this situation are obvious. To deliberately steal a book is a sinful act.

However, the instances of actual stealing are not the library's biggest problem. As shown by the statistics, it is the short-term "borrower" who sneaks a book off the reserve shelf or out of the stacks with every intention of eventually returning it who is the predominant offender at St. Joseph's.

But why does a student sneak a book from the library without signing it out?

Many times it is simply an act of self-defense. A book the student needs has mysteriously disappeared many times in the past. So when he gets the chance, he steals it himself with the idea that he may not see it again. The action is illogical but instinctive.

Some are simply too lazy to go through the ordinary process of signing the book out.

Others think they need the extra time to use the book afforded them by stealing it rather than signing it out. Reserve books especially are taken for this reason.

These are the major excuses a student gives for taking books. None are really valid, and all show a lack of a sense of social responsibility.

Fr. Banet has never refused a student who had a sufficient reason for requesting an extension on the loan of a book. The lazy student is not really a "student" and thus does not belong here. The self-defense plea is illogical.

Perhaps many students do not realize that book "borrowing" is going on on such a grand scale. Certainly few realize the harm they do not only to their fellow students but to themselves as well by perpetuating and giving impetus to a habit whereby it becomes customary to withdraw a book from the library by simply walking out with it.

It is to everyone's advantage that the library knows at all times where every book in the library is located. If a student really needs a certain book and it has been signed out, he can easily find out who has it and arrange to borrow it.

The habit of taking books secretly is growing in popularity and something will have to be done if it is not soon checked. This semester, Fr. Banet has promised to enforce library fines more rigidly than in the past. If this does not work, a new system will have to be found.

The open-self method used here, whereby all books are immediately available to every student, is not a universal system. There are very few universities which permit undergraduates to browse around in the stacks.

If the library were eventually forced to abandon the open-self system, everyone would suffer. Often if the book one is looking for is not in the library, he can find an adequate substitute by scanning the shelves in the same general area.

We have at St. Joseph's one of the finest libraries of any Catholic college in the nation. Last year, $23,000 was spent on library materials, including books, periodicals, and special materials. St. Joseph's placed in the top 20 among 258 Catholic colleges and universities in library expenditures.

Stealing books from the library entails not only loss of money but also loss of time that could be spent by the library staff in perfecting their system and providing better service.

We have a fine library. Let's not abuse it and slow down its progress.

Puma Reflections

By JOHN B. GRIFFIN

Buzz-Buzz, Snip-Snip. Take a little more off the top and leave the sideburns a little thin. College? Yea, up in Rensselaer. No, not New York's Rensselaer Poly. I go to St. Joseph's. You just don't seem to understand it is not in Pennsylvania either. It is St. Joseph's College in Rensselaer, Indiana.

Let me try to locate it for you: it is about 12 miles from Remington and 25 miles from Goodland, now that should straighten you out. Well then maybe you have heard of the famous men who are grads. There were the touchdown twins, Joe and Jim Lambke, who finished last year, and Gene Krupa spent a semester there.

Yea, I know there are a lot of cornfields up there but there is a college up there and they have the highest paid pros and it really is a tough school, really. O, that's the place. I forgot, the Bears train there!

Not sure just what the story is on Tony Pacenti and a certain local Louise. He seems to have the shakes or some other rare disease. He is in a constant state of worry.

I am surely not the first to notice it but: Mr. Marini has a double in the little man who loads the milk machines.

To boo or not to boo—that appears to be the question. It looks like a running battle between Fr. Schaefer and Joe Murray of the Thinking Men Prefer column that appears in Stuff. It may take an official church encyclical to settle the question of booing.

Robert Winkeljohn, the Wabash Indiana cannonball, was temporarily derailed over the weekend but will be back in action before the year is over.

Maybe the C.P.P.S. has opened a branch in Florida judging from the tans that the religious members of our faculty are coming back with. The Irish members of the student body have been confusing them with the infamous "Black and Tans."

Bill "Beefy Bear" Downard has been snuggling up these chilly nights with an electric blanket. Each night he trips over one of his multi-chins and tumbles into bed. Great guy and he is all chin... er... heart.

Rumor has it that Billy, "Billy Bones" Currie has signed for a guest stint on the "Untouchables" TV series after his recent hit at the Mardi Gras.

World famed economist, Jim O'Donnell, is studying the winning string of the Pumas and trying to come up with a solution by a math equation.

Fashion-conscious Pumaville has hit upon another original in strange crew neck AA athletic shirts. Oh, by the way, fashion counselor Fr. Baird would like a word with all you fashion minded athletes.

Thinking women prefer

By JOE MURPHY

The life of a co-ed at St. Joseph's is viewed with concern, wonderment, and jocularly by the male student body. Just what do you think are the main advantages and disadvantages of attending a school which is listed as a "college for men only?" Also, what advice would you give to a girl who is considering attending a predominantly male college?

Gwen Meyers, junior, Rensselaer, Ind.

The co-ed at St. Joe's is at a great disadvantage because of the poor attitude of most of the male students toward any girl trying to get an education at this "school for men only." However the situation has improved greatly during the last two years, especially in the friendliness and politeness of the male students. My advice to any girl planning to attend a predominantly male college is to maintain a cheerful attitude no matter how much she gets kidded and cut down.

Marlene Arra, sophomore, Hebron, Ind.

Seeing as how after marriage a woman's concern is to make a happy home with "her man," attending classes with some of these characters gives an unbelievable insight into the male thinking pattern and their personal habits. The only disadvantage I can see is the fact that there isn't a dorm for women on campus.

My advice to any potential women student is that they should visit the campus of their choice and seriously consider whether or not they can hold up under every test that these good-natured male souls can try to put them through. May I add that I am very glad to be attending Pumaville.

Trish Klaus, freshman, Rensselaer, Ind.

The disadvantages of attending a men's school far outnumber the advantages. I don't think that the majority of the men want to make friends with the co-eds. On the other hand, I know that some students can be a great help to the co-eds.

A girl in considering attending a male college should try to realize what it will actually be like. If she does, I imagine that her idea would change considerably.

Jo Marlatt, freshman, Rensselaer, Ind.

The greatest advantage I've experienced thus far has been the clarity of the professors. Regardless of the fact that St. Joe's is listed as a "college for men only," the pros don't seem to mind helping the co-eds learn some of the finer things of life. Primarily, this is supposed to be a man's world and I think that getting an education from a male point of view will serve as a big help in life after graduation.

The only real disadvantage of being a co-ed here is the feeling that one is intruding upon the privacy of a group of men who have specifically chosen to attend a school AWAY from the hindrance of females.

I think that if a girl is considering going to college FOR AN EDUCATION, St. Joe's offers one of the best scholastic opportunities in the state.

Audrey Urbanczyk, freshman, Rensselaer, Ind.

A girl who is considering attending St. Joe's should weigh the assets and liabilities of the situation very carefully. While the academic situation at St. Joe's is outstanding, the social conditions leave much to be desired.

As a rule, most of the students are pleasant and courteous, but certain individuals dislike the idea of females invading their domain. These few individuals are influential in making the majority of students adopt an "anti-coed" attitude.

My advice to any potential female students would be to develop a mental attitude impervious to the many insults she is bound to receive.

"Moll, this must be your first Mardi Gras. Why! Because you're sitting on my eggbeater."

"Oh, Scarface, it's such a beautiful speakeasy. Just look at all of that decoration."

"Yea."

"What do they call this place?"

"Da Red Room"

"The band is great, Scarface, lets dance."

"OK. Harry, sit on my violin case."

"Scarface, do you always have to wear that shoulder holster when we go out?"

"Yea."

"Why?"

"Protection, Moll, that's why."

"But my heads always get tangled up."

"Just don't scratch the pearl handle."

Matmen lose to Valpo, DePauw; season mark stands at 1-6

St. Joe's wrestling team closed the regular season with losses to DePauw on Saturday and Valparaiso on Tuesday.

These losses gave the matmen a season closing record of 1-6, the only win coming over Indiana State 20-15. At the beginning of the season prospects were no better than the record that the team had.

Inexperience and injuries, especially at the 123 lb. level, held the Pumas down, but only two men will be lost by graduation. This should give the Pumas a far more experienced squad next year.

The Valpo Crusaders downed the Pumas 23-11, Tuesday afternoon. The St. Joe team was forced to forfeit the 123 lb. class and George Foss was defeated at 130.

Mike Mettler at 137 and Jim Delaney at 147 both outpointed their men for the only victories of the afternoon. Jim Crook, 157, Ed O'Hara, 167, and John Keane at 177 were all pinned.

Vic Roos won his match by forfeit.

The DePauw grapplers shutout the St. Joseph's squad in a 30-0 defeat last Saturday at Greencastle.

As usual St. Joe was forced to forfeit the 123 lb. class and George Foss was pinned at the 130 level. Mike Mettler at 137 and Jim Delaney at 147 were both outpointed for losses.

Jim Crook was defeated at 157 and Ed O'Hara lost a close one at 167, being outpointed 7-5. John Keane was pinned at 177. And Vic Roos lost another close decision 1-0.

The weekend of Feb. 25 will see the St. Joe squad traveling to Ball State for the annual ICC wrestling tournament.

The following weekend they will travel to Indiana Central for the Little State tournament. The St. Joe team will be at the same disadvantage in this tournament—little experience.

Regner, Daigle are assistants

Ray Regner and Norb Daigle, former St. Joe football standouts, have been awarded athletic assistantships by the college. The assistantships will enable the pair to continue their educations while gaining coaching experience.

Regner, who played end for the Pumas, will assist the coaching staff while studying for his master's degree in physical education at Purdue University.

Daigle, former varsity half-back, will coach here only until his graduation in June. He is a business major.

Since an ICC rule forbids frosh to participate in varsity sports, extra coaches are needed to tutor the frosh. Regner and Daigle will fill this need, especially in football.

Intramural Scoreboard

By BILL FORTIN

The St. Joe varsity game with Marian college next Thursday, Feb. 23, will be preceded by a contest between the freshmen team and the defending Intramural champion Bennet Flyers. The freshmen coaching plus the fact that the Flyers have not played up to expectations yet this year would seem at first glance to indicate the prospect of a freshmen victory. On the other hand, the Flyers will sport five players who played on the freshmen team themselves and who should be in mid-season form by Thursday. It should be a close one.

Tonight's the night for wrestling. Coach Dwyer is anticipating approximately 40 participants for the matches beginning at 7:00 p. m. in the fieldhouse. The finals will be held tomorrow night at the same time.

The basketball tournament will begin in the first week of March, and may be entered by every team which has not forfeited two games during the regular season, regardless of the team's position in the standings. The ping-pong tournament will start very soon after the beginning of the basketball tourney.

In the basketball A League the Jokers slipped to third place by losing to the A.A.'s in their second encounter with Bennett. The Nebbishes made their bid for prominence by downing the Flyers, but were themselves beaten two days later by the second place Gunners.

The Buckeyes and the Alkies, both hurt by semester drop-outs, battled to a tie in a game for first place in the B League, but a few days later the third place Nobodies dumped the Alkies to give the Bucks undisputed possession of first. Tonight the .500 Nebbishes go against the Buckeyes in the role of spoilers.

In a crucial game with the Webfoots in the Sophomore League the Outcasts gained a decisive victory to gain them a share of first place honors. A Guzzler-Outcast clash is not on the slate as far as the schedule now extends.

In the Xavier League Couhig's A Team took sole control of first place with victories over Marecki's and Plieman's squad, while Klosterman's rose from third to second place.

The tough Drexel Untouchables, led by John Sauer, continue their slim lead over the Mighty Mites who recently beat the Little Pumas to take lone possession of second place in the freshmen league. One of the more important skirmishes of the season in the league took place Monday as the Pumas and the Untouchables met.

The biggest game tonight will pit the two undefeated leaders of the D. League, the Guns and Scooters on the main court at 7:00 p. m., an especially interesting conflict since both teams represent the same floor of the same hall. This constitutes an unusual concentration of talent.

There is no truth to the rumor that official sponsorship will be granted for intramural Yertles.

Aces, Bellarmine, Marian close out '60-'61 season

By HUGH MARTINELLI

St. Joe's Pumas will close out their season next week with three games. They will play Evansville and Bellarmine on the road before returning to the Puma fieldhouse to end the season against Marian.

The Pumas travel to Evansville on Feb. 18 for their last conference game. In the first meeting at Pumaville, the Purple Aces crushed the Pumas 68-54, although they were forced to freeze the ball for the last ten minutes. When the ball control started they held a slender 55-51 lead.

Currently holding a 6-3 slate in the ICC, Evansville has been the only team able to blemish the record of conference leading Butler. Indiana State's Sycamores are pushing the defending conference champion Aces for second place.

Dale Wise, 6-4 forward is the Ace's big gun and everyone's choice for All-Conference honors. He tops the league in total point production with 197 and also holds the lead in scoring averages, with 24.6, and individual rebounds 17.3 per game.

Marve Pruett is a classy sophomore guard who has a 15 point per game average and is a ball hawk on defense.

Leading the ICC in team rebounds, Evansville has three men in the top five of this department. Their center, 6-6 Walt Deal, has been rebounding at a clip of 12 per game. Marty Herthel is the number five man with 11 per game. The team averages 64.5 rebounds per game, which shows their power off the back boards.

The struggling Bellarmine Knights are the Pumas' opposition on Feb. 20 at the Knights new gymnasium, Knights Hall.

The Knights have a 6-15 record and hope to avenge their earlier 73-70 loss to St. Joe. The Pumas beat the Knights twice last season 105-92 and 98-89.

Leading the Knights is their senior center and co-captain 6-6 Bob Westrick. He is averaging 10 points per game and tops the team in rebounds. Freshman Judge Mosley, 6-0 forward, is averaging 11 per game and does a good job off the boards.

In the first encounter with the Pumas, Westrick and All-KIAC guard Jack McLemore each netted 16 points. McLemore is a cat on defense and hits at nine points per game.

Playing such powerhouses as Louisville and Xavier may account for the Knights poor showing thus far in the season. They were smothered by the top small college team in the nation, Tennessee A & I, by a score of 89-54.

St. Joe closes the season against Marian in the Puma fieldhouse next Thursday. The Knights have been troubled by a desperate lack of height all season and their record now stands at 4-14. The Big Red downed Marian earlier this year 73-63, with Al Whitlow pouring in 29 points to lead the Pumas to the win.

Valpo downs Pumas in hard fought contest

St. Joseph's Pumas dropped their ninth league game to arch-rival Valparaiso 82-76 last Tuesday.

The loss was the thirteenth of the season for the Pumas as against four wins and left the Pumas in the cellar of the ICC with a 2-9 record.

The Crusaders of Valparaiso, behind at the half 47-35, came back with a full court press and with eight minutes of the second half remaining overcame the faltering Pumas for the first time on a field goal by Jim Zweifel, a junior guard who produced 24 points for the visiting Crusaders.

With four minutes remaining in the game Bill Braunbeck spotted the Pumas to their final one point lead of the game.

Immediately following this basket Chuck Kriston, a 6-2 sophomore forward launched the visitors into the lead.

Kriston was the leading point producer of the night hitting nine of 22 attempts from the field and 10 of 11 from the charity line. Closely following him was Jim Zweifel with 11 of 27 from the field and two of three bonus tosses.

Al Whitlow was high point man for the Joemen with six field goals and nine free throws. Following Whitlow were Ron Holstein with 19 points and Jerry Patchman with 18 points and 17 rebounds to lead both teams in this department.

The Pumas started out at a fast clip hitting 13 out of their first 20 shots. They were by Holstein who contributed six of his nine field goals at this time.

At the close of the half the Pumas had built up a comfortable 12 point lead by hitting at a .523 clip from the field and .750 from the charity line. During the second half with the full-court press the final shooting percentage for the Pumas fell to .421 from the field and .703 from the foul line.

The Pumas downed the Ball State Cardinals 73-69 in a game played at Muncie, last Saturday.

The Cardinals jumped off to an early lead, thanks to the sharp-shooting of Cardinal cagers Bill O'Neal and John Kunze. At the half the Statesmen led by a four point margin 33-29.

In the first minute of the second period the Pumas closed the gap on two field goals by Ron Holstein. Ball State came back to nab a six point lead, but with less than 11 minutes to go Al Whitlow, Patchman, and Art Voellinger teamed up to again tie the Cards, 47-47.

The game developed into a see-saw battle with neither team gaining a definite advantage until the Pumas pulled ahead 64-58, at the four minute mark.

With two minutes remaining Whitlow hit on two from the field and one free throw, Holstein scored a field goal and dropped in a bonus shot, and Crowley hit from the line to cinch the game for the Pumas 73-69.

"Red Room" hosts Roaring 20's Mardi Gras

The Mardi Gras featured Scarface, Dillinger, and Baby Face Nelson along with several molls imported from Chicago. Lucky thing the dance didn't fall on Valentine's Day.

Waiter Jim McCauley isn't really taking an order. They are trading Tarzan comic books.

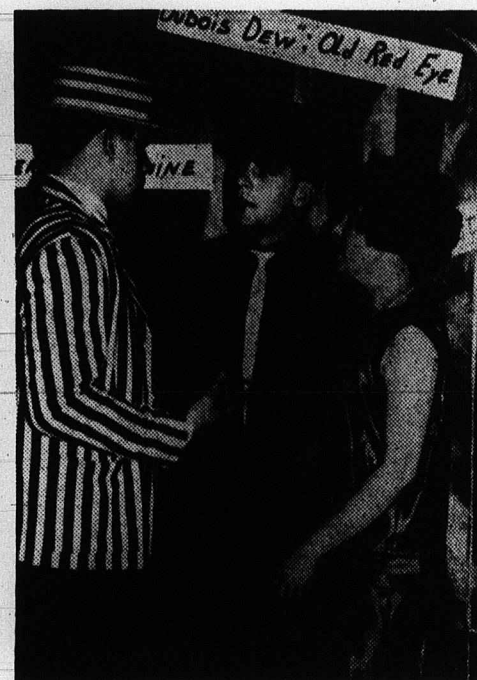

Dick Crenshaw and his date discuss prohibition.

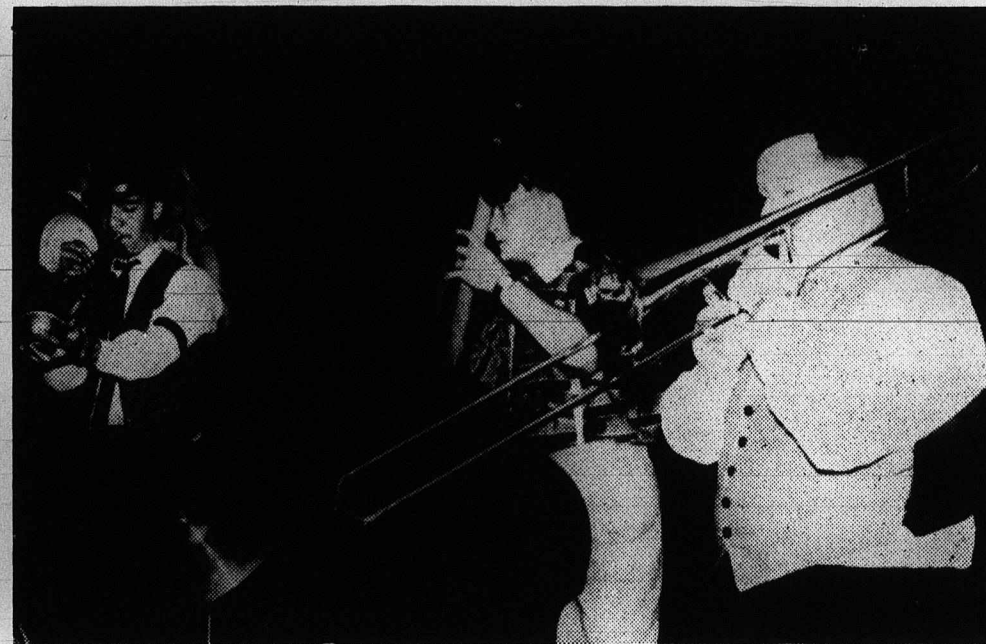

And a good time was had by all.

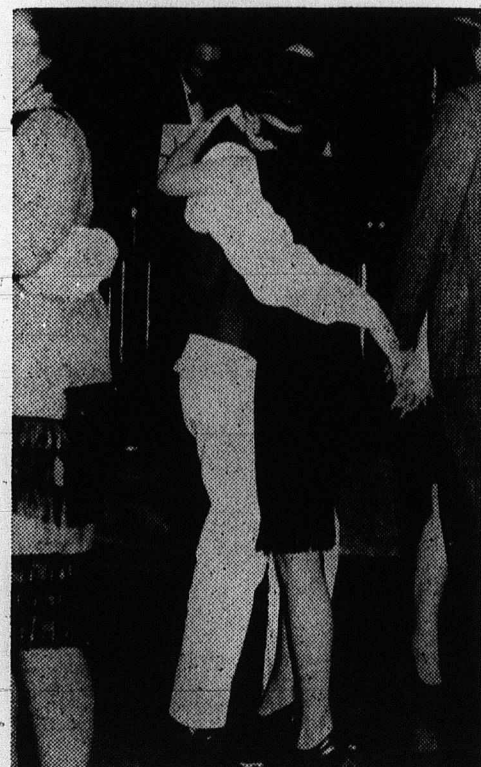

Denny Mudd is out to see that "Awright, where's the baubles and spangles?" everybody gets shot down.

Bobby Christian's orchestra provided the Charleston music for the Pumaville flappers.

St. Joe musicians got together for a little Dixie Land during intermission of the Christian orchestra.

They weren't all Charlestons even during the "Roaring Twenties."

Dan Zawila explains "violin cases" to his date.

The big guys of the Pumaville mob, Tom Webster and Ron Boguski, move in.
